LEGION PLANS ECONOMY DRIVE

Louisville, Ky.—A reorganization of the State Government of Kentucky in the interest of modern economic and efficient government "in the interest of the taxpayers" will be sought by the American Legion. It was decided by the Executive Committee of the Kentucky Department.

Plans for the economic move were contained in a report by the Legion Public Relations Subcommittee, submitted to the executive body by George W. Biggers, Harrodsburg chairman. The report was adopted unanimously and the committee resolved to carry out the recommendations to the extent of its ability.

After outlining what it considers weaknesses in the State financial and executive structure, the committee suggested seven specific changes. One of the many reforms suggested was the adoption of a short ballot providing only for the election of the Governor and Lieutenant Governor.

Under the proposals, the Governor would be empowered to appoint heads of departments and reorganize boards and commissions. Such power would call for revision of the State Constitution.

Other specific recommendations call for more scientific budgeting of State expenditures, payment of State receipts into the general fund, which would take care of all State expenditures, more interest in the qualifications of elective officers and the placing of appointive officers on a civil service basis, and the election of members to the General Assembly who favor immediate reorganization of the government along business lines.

The program includes a campaign to educate voters of the State to the advantages of the managerial and commission forms of government for counties.

Evils mentioned in the report include loose organization in the administrative branch, excessive State debt, incompetent budgeting without any plan for keeping the debt from increasing. It was stated in the report that similar conditions existed in county governments, with the result that 113 of the 120 counties were burdened with $35,000,000 bonded indebtedness and that at least eighteen had defaulted in principal and interest payments.

G. Lee McClain, Bardstown, chairman of the Public Relations Committee, said aid would be sought from other groups in the State sympathetic with the program.

TEACH SAFE DRIVING

The automobile driver of tomorrow is in the high school student of today. This driver of the future should be a careful, courteous and conscientious motorist, mindful of the rights of all others and thoroughly informed as to traffic laws and regulations.

That is why high school motor clubs are multiplying rapidly in the United States. Several hundred such organizations are actively at work.

High school automobile clubs have three basic functions: First, the teaching of safe driving principles; second, accurate mechanical information; and third, education in state, local and municipal laws and ordinances. In this program police departments, automobile manufacturers, insurance companies and all others interested in traffic safety, are always ready to lend a hand to provide demonstrations, speakers, lecture courses, booklets, pamphlets and all other material.

Statistics for 1932 show that 11,000 drivers under 18 were involved in incidents, although few states permit minors of that age to handle a car alone in traffic.

There is no better place to instill the principles of any subject than in a school. Carpentry is taught in schools, but more boys will drive automobiles than will work at a bench. Girls will drive more frequently than will cook, but cooking is taught in modern schools.

The high school automobile club provides safety education. It is no expense to the schools. Nothing is spent but the willingly contributed time of the safety agencies.

School authorities planning for their fall courses would do well to investigate the motor driving club plan, and encourage its establishment. If further information is desired, the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, One Park Avenue, New York City, offers to supply it.

FARM RELIEF BILL

Washington, D. C., May—The Administration Farm Relief Bill, in which is incorporated plans for controlled inflation of the currency, is a bold and intelligent effort to restore the American farmer to a plane where he can get for his products prices that represent a reasonable profit, said Representative C. R. Carden, of Kentucky, a member of the House Committee on Agriculture, which re drafted the bill and sponsored its enactment.

"I believe that within a year the upward trend of market prices on farm commodities will revive hope in the hearts of millions of despondent farmers, permit them to catch a glimpse of a ray of light through the dark clouds that have settled over the farm homes of America," the Kentuckian continued. In explaining the inflation provisions of the bill he pointed out that it permits:

The Federal Reserve Banks to buy $3,000,000,000 in outstanding Government bonds, against which currency may be issued.

The President to issue, if he sees fit, another $3,000,000,000 in United States notes.

The President to reduce not more than 50 percent the solid content of the dollar.

The President to fix the ratio of the silver dollar and provide for free coinage of silver.

The President to accept $200,000,000 in silver from foreign countries as payment on the war debts at the rate of up to 50 cents in silver, against which currency may be issued.

The President may use authority conferred on him at his discretion in order to restore prosperity. He may put into effect any one of the plans, or all of them, if in his judgment conditions necessitate it, was explained by Representative Carden.

In discussing the farm relief sections it was pointed out that Secretary of Agriculture Wallace is authorized to set a processing tax on wheat, cotton, corn, hogs, rice, tobacco, sugar cane, sugar beets and dairy products in the amount he deems necessary to increase income over market levels. Tax receipts would either be paid the farmer as a direct benefit, or by lessening his load, in exchange for decreasing his production.

Marketing agreements among distributors are permitted so they can pay more to the farmer.

A compensatory tax on competing products is provided to offset price increases through the processing tax.

Allowance is made for a $2,000,000 Federal Land Bank bond issue, with a Government guaranteed interest of 1 percent, for loans to farmers through Land Banks at 1½ percent re-financing mortgages.

The bill also authorizes the Reconstruction Corporation to lend $200,000 to farmers to permit them to refinance other debts with creditors; $10,000,000 from the Treasury to Land Banks plus surpluses so they can extend loans; and $15,000,000 to repay them for loss of interest, which now is 6 percent.

Special emphasis was placed on the fact that the parity price on tobacco which the farm bill would seek to maintain, in the event the Secretary of Agriculture endeavors to make the act applicable to tobacco, would be based on the average market price for that commodity from August 1919 to July 1929.

As the bill was originally drawn tobacco prices would have been based on the 1919-1924 period. Kentuckian was unable to incorporate this in the bill when it was considered in the House because it did not permit amendment. In the Senate an amendment offered by Senator Alben W. Barkley, establishing the average price of 1919-1929 as the parity price on tobacco was voted into the bill. The effect will be to raise the parity price on tobacco about four cents a pound, Representative Carden concluded.

Something for Nothing

Stuff that comes out of loud speakers is "free." That's why owners have to listen to endless harangue about virtues of stomach pills, crazy water, funeral service with a smile, well drained cemetery lots, etc. in their houses. Is it "free"? Listeners pay over hundred million a year for electric power alone. Total cost of operating all receiving sets over 400 millions per annum. Total expense of all broadcasting stations less than 100 millions yearly. Who says programs are "free"? Broadcasters tell us the listeners pay. Change in system needed to put listener interest in first place.

Laffoon's Advisory Council

Gov. Ruby Laffoon has appointed an Advisory Council of nine men from parts of the State who are to consider a re-organization of State government and report to the next session of the General Assembly. These men are to serve without salaries and are to study the laws passed by other State Legislatures, and have before them Governor McNutt of Indiana to give his experience in doing things in the Hoosier State. Governor Laffoon in this step has shown a good intention to help Kentucky but he has gone about it more like President Hoover than President Roosevelt. He has appointed a commission. Commissions generally have been a dismal failure and probably this one will be like most others that have been appointed. While several of them are admirable selections like Ben Williamson of Ashland, and John Brown of Shelby county, others are not particularly adapted to this commission. For instance, why should not former Governor J. C. W. Beckham be a member of this commission? He conducted the most economical government in Kentucky for nearly eight years as Governor of the State. He probably knows more about the ways of changing our State into an economical government than any other man in Kentucky. Why should not one or two of those prominent gentlemen who composed the Efficiency Commission in 1922 be added to this list? But waiving the question of the commission. The News does not believe that the Governor will get anywhere with it. It had been better if he had waited until after the August primaries and then selected a commission of prominent Democrats and Republicans who will be in the next Legislature and asked them to serve as a committee and study this question between August and January. If Governor Laffoon had leadership he would follow the distinguished President of the United States in bringing himself what is necessary to bring the expenditures of Kentucky down to the present revenue without impairing the efficiency of the State Government.

The expensive operation of the Highway Commission, composed of nine members, is a thing that would be regulated by any intelligent efficient commission. One executive engineer as head of the road department of the State and the abolishment of this nine-member Commission with expensive division headquarters. In each district would be a matter of economy to the State and a most efficient and satisfactory road building program. The Tax Commission could be overhauled and a number of field men employed under it, now over thirty, could easily be reduced to one for each Congressional district.

This commission appointed by the Governor may gather a great deal of information but what Kentucky needs is not a council to make a report, but a Governor who, freeing himself from all political restraints and controls of politicians, assumes the leadership himself and directs legislation along the line that President Roosevelt has done. In other words, it seems that the one need of Kentucky is a Roosevelt at Frankfort instead of a Laffoon—Elizabeth News.

KILLED IN CAR ACCIDENT

Howard Perry of Coney was so badly hurt on Tuesday at about the noon hour that he died from his injuries a few hours later at the Mary Childs hospital at Mt. Sterling, where he was taken in an effort to save his life.

J. W. Day was the driver of the death car and the accident occurred on the road beyond Index. Mr. Perry evidently became confused by the oncoming car and tried to cross the road just ahead of it when he was hit.

Mr. Perry's injuries included a fractured skull and fractures of an arm and leg, and internal injuries.

Mr. Perry was about thirty years of age and leaves his bride of only a few months, Ora, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Haney of Shadyside. He is survived also by a sister, father, and several brothers.

Meeting at Grassy

The Presiding Elder of the M. E. church South, Rev. V. L. Moore of Lexington held the Quarterly Conference of this district at Goodwin's Chapel, Sunday, preaching a Mother's Day sermon Sunday morning.

The pastor, Rev. J. J. Schindler, made the closing service Sunday the opening of a two weeks meeting at that place.

Rev. and Mrs. Schindler are fortunate to have to assist them Rev. and Mrs. Morris S. Loyer of Buchanan, who are both gifted in singing as well as enthusiastic revival workers.

This meeting has started off with good attendance, and the interest is shown. Your presence will be heartily welcomed.

Dine at Salyersville

Mr. and Mrs. J. I. McGuire and their granddaughter, William Gene Ceall, of White Oak, had dinner with their son and daughter, Lydia D. Ceall and Holart McGuire, at Salyersville, May 7. They also visited their aunts, Mrs. J. Rowland Cain, in the afternoon and remained over night with their children in the upstairs apartments at the home of John Cain, county agent.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK

The commencement programs of the Morgan County High School opened with a splendid entertainment given by the Expression Department, on Thursday evening, May 4. Those taking part did credit to themselves and their instructor, Mrs. Snowden Steele.

The Junior-Senior Banquet was a fine turkey dinner served to 125 guests Friday evening in the basement of the Christian church. The senior address, "The Future," by Miss Grace Adams and the junior address, "The Challenge of Youth," by Miss Berneice McMath were truly and well rendered. Miss Georgia Mite Caskey, a sophomore, played a beautiful piano solo. Miss Ruth Gardner, a graduate of Berea College and an unusually talented render, gave "Not Such A Goose," which brought down the house. The lecture by Rev. Thompson of Salyersville, A Desirable Religious Attitude of a High School Graduate, was well received. The pleasant evening closed with a song by the juniors.

Sunday evening a large concourse of parents and friends assembled at the Christian church for the baccalaureate sermon by Rev. Rayat of Salyersville, which was one of the best ever delivered to high school seniors.

Mrs. Dorothy Stacy Perry gave a musical reading and the choir furnished the music.

Monday evening the Junior music pupils gave their recital, which closed with the "Tiptoe Drill and Music" by Mrs. Baldwin's famous band.

The play, "For the Love of Mike," given Tuesday by the high school music pupils was good. The students were well trained and met their parts well.

Wednesday evening the seniors appeared on the stage with their usual history of amusing scenes, their prophecy, though rather serious and aiming to bring out the highest ideal of each member of the class, must have a happy and worthwhile ending. The boys were rather hard hit but took it manfully and we feel sure have determined to set their goal higher than was depleted. The scene closed with their tombstone and appropriate epitaph.

The senior play, "Closed Lips," by five girls and five boys, was put on Thursday evening and enjoyed by an audience of about two hundred people. The characters had been well selected and the acting was as it should be, as though going through an actual experience. Who could not be proud of the class?

Friday evening the commencement closed with the presentation of diplomas to the following: Olive Faund, Dorothy McKenzie, Ella Turner, Elizabeth W. Hines, Byron May, Arnold McKenzie, Grace Adams, and Mrs. Pearl Lester. The speaker of the evening was Dr. Payne, president of the Morgan Normal. Dr. Payne is an orator and his address was interesting as well as instructive.

Prof. Alfred L. Carpenter has put earnest, untiring effort into his work. He has cooperated with pull, teacher, parent, superintendent and the P. T. A. With him as principal, his faculty and the co-operation of all, we come to the close of a successful school year and may each have a useful and pleasant vacation.

FOR CIRCUIT COURT CLERK

The Courier presents this week for the consideration of our readers the formal announcement of A. Curt Rose, 32, Mrs. for the office of Circuit Court Clerk, on the Democratic ticket at the August primary.

Mr. Rose's qualifications for this position are very excellent. He is a high school graduate, has had twenty years successful teaching experience. He is an excellent penman, a careful and accurate accountant and has had continual business experience.

Mr. Rose has always been a loyal Democrat and his family connection is a roster of loyal Democrats.

Mr. Rose has extensive family connection and will make a strong bid for this nomination. His candidacy is hereby submitted for the earnest consideration of the Democracy of Morgan county.

We Are Grateful

We desire through the Courier to express our deepest gratitude to the friends, neighbors and relatives for their words of sympathy and for the beautiful floral offerings during the loss of our dear husband and father. Mrs. G. M. Bellamy and children

Stanley Carpenter

The above is a likeness of Stanley Carpenter, who has been elected principal of the Morgan County High School for the ensuing year.

Mr. Carpenter was born December 9, 1904, is the son of Tilden Carpenter of Omer. His mother is the daughter of George McClure of Pomp. He completed the eighth grade at Toms Branch, and graduated from Hazel Green Academy in 1925. He taught one school at Bonny and one year at the Carpenter district. He graduated from Milligan College Tennessee, with A. B. degree in 1929, where he was assistant instructor in biology. He received his A. M. degree from the State University at Knoxville, Tennessee, in 1931. He then returned to Milligan College where he was instructor for a year. Last year he attended State Teachers College, Columbus, Ohio, where he worked on his Ph.D. or Doctor's degree. Since March 1933, he has been in Johnson City, Tennessee. Mr. Carpenter married a Miss Jones of Johnson City, where she is now in school.

He comes highly recommended. His educational training is almost a Doctor's degree, which is probably the highest our county has ever had. As a Morgan county boy, he returns to offer the best service he can give and deserves the loyal support and co-operation of all persons connected with or interested in the county high school.

COUNTY AGENTS COLUMNAbout the Farm

Where bluegrass replaces alfalfa, observations at the Experiment Station indicate that alfalfa dies from causes other than crowding by bluegrass. Bluegrass and alfalfa will often grow together for years with little effect on the stand of alfalfa. Since alfalfa does little to prevent erosion, bluegrass should be sowed with it on land that tends to wash.

Prune shrubs as soon as they have finished blooming. Thin the shrub by removing a few stems but leave the plant in a natural shape. Unless formal effects are desired, do not cut the top so it will be flat.

Eight weeks is considered the ideal age to wean pigs, especially if the sow is to farrow again in the fall. A few days before removing the sow from the pigs, put her on a reduced corn-alone ration. This rapidly reduces the milk flow, since corn is not a good feed to produce milk.

Failure of milk or cream to keep properly may be due in part to lack of cleanliness of buckets and other utensils. After washing the equipment with a brush and washing powder, rinse well, and then scald thoroughly. The use of water at boiling temperature is important.

There is still time to sow soybeans, cowpeas and sudan grass. Dairy farmers who would make money must grow most of their feed, especially roughage. An abundance of legume hay next winter would reduce the amount of high priced protein supplement that would need to be purchased to balance the ration.

Install Drainage

Despite low prices for farm products, many eastern Kentucky farmers are continuing to improve their land by drainage, says Earl G. Welch of the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky.

Farmers are taking advantage of the present low cost of drainage improvements in order to be ready to produce more and better crops when prices improve. They also have discovered that it requires no more time to drain bottom land than it does to remove scrub timber from hillsides, and the drained land produces much more.

Powell county farmers cooperated in ordering a carload of tile. Two Carter county men installed in 75 acres of wet land. Drew Hogan and O. J. Trowler of Boyd county are draining bottom land in order to grow better hay crops. Letcher county included drainage in its farm improvement program last year for the first time. This year 14 men are demonstrating the practice on fields ranging from one to six acres in size. Where drain tile cannot be obtained because of long hauls over poor roads, substitutes for tile are being used.

A common practice in all counties is to construct open ditches with surplus labor to provide drainage this year with the idea of installing tile later.

Fellowship Given Kentucky Boy

The annual Danforth Foundation summer fellowship has been awarded to Boyd Wheeler, a student in the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky. It provides expenses for two weeks of study in the Ralston Purina Mills in St. Louis and two weeks of training in leadership at the American Youth Foundation camp in Michigan.

Mr. Wheeler is a junior in the College of Agriculture, and is majoring in animal industry. He was an outstanding 4-H club boy in Harlan county before attending college and a member of the champion 4-H dairy club judging team which represented the state at the National Dairy Exposition in St. Louis in 1930.

Government Loans $685,740

A total of 12,021 Kentucky farmers had received $685,740 in government crop loans on May 5, according to a report of H. F. Link of the College of Agriculture, who represented the state in the St. Louis office of the United States department of agriculture. These figures will be slightly increased, he said, since a few applications were still to be passed on. April 30 was the final date on which applications could be mailed.

Kentucky received approximately 31 percent of the total amount of money loaned to farmers in the seven states served by the St. Louis office. Missouri received approximately 22 percent; Oklahoma, 21; Colorado, 10; Kansas, 7; Indiana 7; and Illinois, 2. Loans made in Kentucky averaged $35 last year. 13,713 loans for a total of $835,295 were made to farmers in Kentucky. On this amount 53 percent had been repaid on Feb. 21, the date of the last report on the 1932 loans.

Kentucky Farm Radio Program

The College of Agriculture will broadcast the following farm radio program from the University of Kentucky extension studios of WHAS the week of May 22. Each program will begin at 12:45, central standard time. May 22—Tobacco mosaic. R. A. Hunt, Garden regrets, John S. Gardner.

Serious Charges Face Mellon

Washington, May 11 (AP)—The income tax returns of Andrew W. Mellon, former Secretary of the Treasury and former Ambassador to Great Britain, are under the scrutiny of the Justice Department as an aftermath of charges by Representative McFadden.

Attorney General Cummings said today there would be a thorough investigation of the allegation made on the floor of the House by McFadden that while in the Hoover Cabinet Mellon was guilty of "a specific tax evasion" of approximately $6,700,000.

Cummings told newspapermen that in addition to the McFadden charges, a number of letters had been received asking the Inquiry, "most of them voluntary contributions by people who believed they had some interest in the case."

"It is fair to say that the policy of the department is to investigate all cases where the complaint indicates that there is some substance to the allegations," Cummings said. "This is a serious charge and has to be treated seriously and I hope, fairly."

The usual procedure is for the Bureau of Investigation of the department to conduct preliminary inquiries into complaints, but the Attorney General indicated that he would handle the Mellon case through a special investigator, asserting he had not decided yet on the manner.

In making his charges last week McFadden read a letter from David A. Olson, former investigator for the Senate stock market committee, asserting that in 1931 Mellon sold stock in the Western Public Service Company and the Pittsburgh Coal Company showing a loss of $6,700,000, "which loss was deducted for income tax purposes."

The Pittsburgh Coal Company stock, Olson's letter added, was repurchased by the Coalesed Company, "which company is owned 100 per cent by Mr. Mellon and his family." Olson said all the stock was repurchased thirty-one days "after the presumed sale" and that the "loss deducted on the income tax return is not a proper deduction."

After reading the letter, McFadden said: "The circumstances recited are similar to the admission of Mr. Charles E. Mitchell, former chairman of the board of the National City Bank, which admission caused his indictment."

McFadden said the offense recited was "made more serious by the fact that Mr. Mellon, as Secretary of the Treasury at the time of the transaction, was in a position where he could pass upon the integrity of his own tax return through his subordinate, Mr. Burnet, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue."

Woodin Sees Hope

New York, May 15 (AP)—William H. Woodin, enjoying a breathing spell for the first time since he became secretary of the treasury says:

"Now, thank God, I think I can say that I really feel hope in the air. The banking situation seems to have settled down and I feel real hope. Prophecy is a little out of fashion, but I do sense it."

D. R. Keeton of Lexington spent the week end here with his family.

People's ColumnFOR MORGAN COUNTY

Dear People's Column:

Taxpayers seem to be interested in the coming elections, and well they should be. High salaries and useless offices must go.

There are important offices in Morgan county which need no salary, as there are commissions enough connected with the office to make a man a good living.

Personal friendship is a poor foundation to build on when voting for public officials. I am looking for men who will practice economy in our county during the next four years.

Lookers for county officials might be handy and desirable if our tax payers could afford such luxuries but Morgan county just now must do without them. Morgan county is in no position at this time to incur new obligations financial or otherwise.

The tax payer who parts with his hard earned dollar will set to it that a "New Deal" comes to Morgan county. His personal friendship on election day will include "What is best for Morgan county?"

Deputy Sheriff Leonard Horn was interviewed on the court house steps yesterday by a crying woman. "My husband has disappeared," she sobbed. "Here is his picture. I want to find him. The deputy sheriff looked up from the photograph. "Why?" he asked.

One of our local livestock traders has a cow that he liked to brag about, and this is what he was heard to say the other day: "That cow's mother never had anything but steer calves."

We wuz all settin' round 'round the office stens whilin' waitin' for Uncle Sam to come with our "Wish Books" one day this week when "Longlegs" says: "More rain, more rest."

"Longgreen" replied. "Yes, for some people, but I got a patch of new ground up in the head of the hollow."

"Longlegs" went to Inez the other day and decided to bring himself a new Panama hat. Going into a store, he asked the price of one that looked good to him. The clerk replied, "Five dollars." "Where are the holes?" "Longgreen" asked. The clerk appeared bewildered for a moment, but went on to ask, "What holes?" "Longlegs" replied. "The holes for the ears of the ass that would pay $5.00 for a 'nose' snick that high."

A young man representing a hatchery was on our "erlek" last week selling baby chicks. He visited "Longgreen" and said to him, "This is the fine place to raise poultry." "Longgreen" looked up from his whilin' and said,

"Poultry, I'd like to see you do it. The 'longlegs' went to Inez the other day and decided to bring himself a new

"I want a shave," said the determined-looking man as he climbed into a chair in Casey Ward's barber shop.

I don't want a bald tone, nor a shampoo. Neither do I want any tanicum, with hazel hair tone, hot towels, or face massage. I don't want to maneuver lady to hold my hand, nor the hoodlack to fondle my feet.

I just want a plain shave, with no trimmings. Do you understand that?"

"Yes, sir," said Casey. "Will you have some father on your face mister?"

Wild and disheveled, watery eye, and trembling of limb, he burst into "Bip." Spear's dental office and addressed the molar merchant in gasping ones: "Do you give gas here?" "Yes."

"Bip" replied. "Nothing could wake him?" "Nothing. But—" "Wait a bit, could you break his jaw or black eye without him feeling it?" "Yes?" With an air of course, I—"It lasts about half a minute doesn't it?" "Yes?" With

"Bip" replied. "Does it put a man to sleep?" "Of course." "Nothing could
